To Purchase Horses

For the French Army

Norman Steele of the live stock branch of the Department of Agriculture of Alberta, was in town recently getting out posters regarding the buying of horses for the French Army. A copy of which appears in this issue of the Review. He states that the prospects are good for the securing of at least five hundred head in this locality.

The only horses which have been rejected at recent sales by the French buyers, were those overworked worn out or too young. No white or grey horses are accepted. In a few instances good horses up to the age of twelve were bought.

The horses desired are divided into three classes:

Class A—Light Cavalry 950 to 1050 lbs.

Class AA—Heavy Cavalry 1050 to 1250 lbs.

Class C—Artillery 1250 lbs and over.

All horses must be at least five years old and stand fifteen hands.

The cavalry horses must be taller and sturdier. The artillery horses must be harness broken. No objection is made to a bucking providing it is not too vicious.

The price range according to quality from eighty-five to one hundred and sixty-five dollars.

It is to be hoped that the farmers of this district will do their part in providing the necessary horses for the French Army.

UNION BANK OF CANADA

A Joint Account is a Great Convenience for family funds. It may be opened with the Union Bank of Canada in the names of two persons, either of whom can make deposits or withdraw money when in town or when passing the bank. It is especially convenient if the husband is frequently away on trips, as it enables the wife to procure funds for expenses on her own signature alone.

Troops in Training Not to Be Dispersed to Towns

The following is a letter received by Mayor N. G. Holmes from the Commanding Officer of Military District No. 13, Calgary, Alberta.

Sir: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 1st instant and to inform you that there is no intention of dispersing the troops now in training to the towns. But if twenty-five or more men can be recruited in a small town it is probable they may be called there for training.

Two Hundred and Fifty Stories

And every story a good one. They are entertaining, but that is not all you can say about them. You know there is hardly a periodical published that is not full of this wailing story but not a single story in The Youth's Companion is a true story. Take the stories of C. A. Stephens. It would be hard to pick out one from which you cannot learn something useful and yet entertaining.

Some of The Companion stories are your knowledge of geography; some tell you the mysteries of chemistry, some reveal the secrets of forestry and of general farming. They cover a wide range. They are chosen with an eye to the possible findings of every member of a Companion family—stories of vigorous action and stirring adventure for boys, stories of college life and domestic life for girls, stories that range all the way from sheer droolery to deep seriousness for men and women. There are no stories quite like those in The Companion.

If you are not familiar with The Companion as it is to day, let us send you sample copies and the Forecast for 1904.

New subscribers who send $2.25 for 1904 will receive free a copy of The Companion Home Calendar for 1905, in addition to all the remaining 1905 issues from the time the subscription is received.

For further particulars and conditions of sale, apply to Messrs. Longwell, Bennett, McLaws & Company, Barristers, etc., Clarence Block, Calgary, Alberta.

Dated at City of Calgary this 13th day of October, A. D. 1915. LONGWELL, BENNETT, McLAWS & CO. Vendor's Solicitors. Approved—W. Forbes, Registrar.

There are those—lots of 'em—that receive $10 worth of favors every year through their country papers, and yet so begrudge the publisher the small price of a year's subscription that they row it week after week, and solicit upon their adeptness at getting so much ahead of the editor. If such close-fisted, condescending morals ever step inside the poverty miles, heaven is not the place we think it is.

COMMUNITY BUILDING

Money Sent Away From Your Town Will Not Help Your District

Many country newspapers in the United States and Canada are devoting considerable space lately to articles showing the value of farmers patronizing the merchants in their own shopping center and district. "Country Life in Canada," for June, has a lengthy article on "Community Building" from which we quote only a few paragraphs:

What The Town Means
What these friends mean is that the R.R., old home town mean for all of us. It is the social center of our community. In this, that it is the educational, religious, political and commercial center of our community. Can you imagine, for example, a vast agricultural territory like Saskatchewan—empty upon league of pleasant prairie dotted with farms—without every few miles a "home town," a community center for the surrounding country? Would not the whole social and commercial fabric of the province suffer and were the agriculturists to spread indolently in its effects, would not the whole of Western Canada suffer irreparable loss?

Cause and Effect
There is a reason for this. We must have a cause to obtain the reaction of an effect. We must look at the question of buying and selling in terms of their local effect. That is, every dollar sent out of a community that could be spent in the community represents a certain monetary loss to that district. Do you doubt that statement? If so, the writer can assure you that, from the mail order standpoint alone, there are thousands of communities on this continent systematically robbing themselves; communities who, with wide open eyes, are doing their best to eliminate their local town, to commit social and commercial suicide in a remote section. These communities are the "earthquake" already outlined, and their effect may be more slow but is nevertheless equally disastrous. Do you want proof? Well, commercial records show that a large U. S. mail order house did a business of $101,000,000 in 1914, and paid dividends of approximately $21,000,000. How many dollars of that vast sum, think you, returned to one of the communities who helped to build that vast turnover—those immense annual dividends? True, they got the goods, but they lost the quality of the goods, the individuals who wrote the orders. But what about the dollars? They had gone forever—were paid away by that remote town in factories, stores, supply, employees—and also into reserve funds and dividends. The small retailer relied itself to support the flow of city—and with no compensating circulation of currency.

UNDER-MIND FIGHTING

University Writers' Criticisms of "Made-in-Canada" is Superficial

"Show me a man who puts up a 'Made-in-Canada' placard and I will show you a man who hopes to increase his own private and personal profit at your expense or mine, out of the movement."

The above extract is taken from an article signed "S.L." and occupies an editorial or a semi-editorial position, which appeared in the April issue of the "University Magazine," a review which is published in Montreal and circulated chiefly among university graduates.

Throughout Canada, at the present time, there are thousands of "Made-in-Canada" placards displayed in the most important manufacturing, wholesale and retail establishments. In the advertisements and on the products of our leading manufacturers whose reputations are national, and in many cases, international, the words "Made-in-Canada" appear. It is quite true, of course, that these "Made-in-Canada" placards and advertisements are intended to promote the sale of Canadian goods and, consequently, to yield legitimate profits to those who make and sell the goods; but "S.L." sees great wickedness in this and seems to infer that Canadian goods should be sold at cost or better still, at a loss. Are we to assume that "Made-in-Germany" or "Made-in-Austria" goods were formerly sold in Canada without any regard for "private and personal profit" to those who made them, or that goods made in other countries are now being sold in Canada for similar disinterested motives?

Admitting that manufacturers and dealers who advocate the "Made-in-Canada" policy hope to derive personal benefit from it, which no reasonable person thinks of denying, surely they can do so at least credit to a broad interest in the success of the movement and for entertaining the belief that the adoption of the policy will be of great advantage to other classes as well as to themselves.

STOCK INSPECTION

The new Stock Inspection Act requires that when livestock is offered for shipment to a point outside of the Province, the same must be inspected for brands, and the shipper must either own the brand that is on the animal or he must have a Memorandum of Sale signed by such owner. If the animal is unbranded, the seller must state in his Memorandum how he acquired the animal that is offered for shipment.

All animals sold at a sale yard or exchange (i.e., stock yard or slaughter house) must be inspected before payment therefor is made, as much also animals sold on a farm or at the private stables of the seller, unless they have been on the premises for at least thirty days.

If a farmer raises a horse or cow and sells it at the farm, no inspection is required. If he brings it into town and sells it, then must be inspected because it has not been on the premises where sold for thirty days.

If a resident in a town or city owns a horse and keeps it in his own private stable, he may, if he has owned it for more than thirty days, sell it without inspection. If he keeps it in a livery and sale stable, or if he takes the animal there to have it sold, it must be inspected for brands, the proof of ownership must be established before it can be taken away or payment therefor accepted.
